

Taiwan High Speed Rail Tickets Promotions Notes for College Student

"Domestic university/college" refers to all universities, colleges, military/police schools, and religious schools in Taiwan. However, open universities, open continuing colleges, and continuing education programs/cram schools run by universities/colleges do not count.

The discounts are only applicable to designated train numbers, and for only the standard class reserved seats (Not applicable to the business class reserved seats and non-reserved seats).

The purchase channels for the discount tickets are as follows:

Purchase can be made through THSR online booking system, through the 「T Express」 App, at THSR partnered convenience stores, or at the ticket windows at every THSR station.

Those who have booked their tickets can pay for and collect them through the 「T Express」 App, at THSR partnered convenience stores, or through ticket windows or ticket vending machines at THSR stations.

When boarding, passengers shall present a valid student ID card for verification purposes (Electronic certification is not acceptable). THSR conducts random ID verification checks at the ticket gates and on the trains. If the student ID card does not have an enrollment stamp for the current semester or is exempted from such, the passenger will be required to present the original copy of a certificate of enrollment to be eligible for the relevant fare. Those who are caught failing to present a valid certificate shall pay up the full price, and will be charged an additional penalty fee of 50% of the fare difference in accordance with THSRC regulations.

Please board the train based on the train number, car number, and designated departure and destination points specified on the ticket. Those who wish to change their rides or take seats in cars that have higher fares shall pay up the full price, and will be charged an additional penalty fee of 50% of the fare difference.

The discounts may not be used in conjunction with other promotional offers (such as preferential tickets, group tickets, ticket exchange certificates, or early bird discounts).

Except as stipulated in the aforementioned rules, the rest of the operational matters shall be handled pursuant to relevant regulations stated in THSR's Passenger Transportation Contract.

The train numbers, promotional details, and other matters needing attention for this discount program shall be subject to what is published on THSR's website. THSR Corporation reserves the right to change or terminate this program.
